

Together, we made every moment count.

Behind every lesson and moment of progress stands a team bound by care, trust, and a shared belief in children. This year, the MySchoolPulse team continued to stand together, showing up with patience, compassion, and presence for children when life feels uncertain.

Through daily tutoring and care, our team brings comfort into hospital classrooms across Lebanon, allowing learning and hope to carry on.

A year of shared moments

First Lady Neemat Aoun with MySchoolPulse Students and Team

We were honored to welcome First Lady Neemat Aoun to Saint George Hospital, where she met our students and team and learned more about the work of MySchoolPulse.

During her visit, she witnessed how education continues to provide stability, routine, and reassurance for children during hospital stays.

Her presence reinforced the importance of standing beside children with care, continuity, and learning, when they need it most.

Art Therapy, in partnership with The Red Pencil

Now in its fourth phase, our art therapy program with The Red Pencil continues to support emotional well-being through creative expression. Since 2020, this partnership has offered children and their families a safe space to express emotions and find comfort during difficult times.

This phase engaged 40 students, along with 15 siblings and 12 parents, strengthening emotional support for both children and their families across Lebanon.

A Visit from Our Co-Founder

Our Co-Founder at MySchoolPulse Mrs. Mireille Nassif visited students at Saint George Hospital, taking time to connect, listen, and share moments of encouragement. The visit offered a space for conversation and presence, reminding students that they are supported, seen, and believed in.

These simple yet meaningful exchanges capture the heart of our work, remaining close to children and making learning, care, and connection part of their daily experience.

A Season of Giving

We celebrated special moments with our students across six hospitals, sharing gifts, smiles, and simple joy. These visits were about more than giving; they were about being present, connecting, and reminding children that they are thought of and cared for.

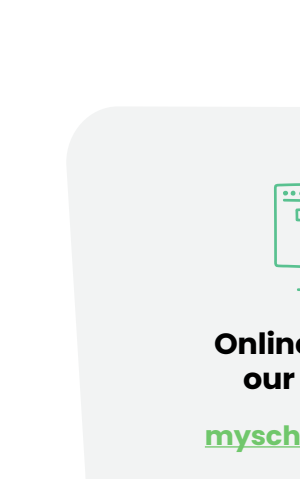

Through small gestures and shared moments, we created memories that brought warmth and light into hospital days, celebrating our students and the joy they bring to our community.

2025 in numbers

Each number holds a child's story, made possible through your care and belief.

About our new teachers!

33 years experience

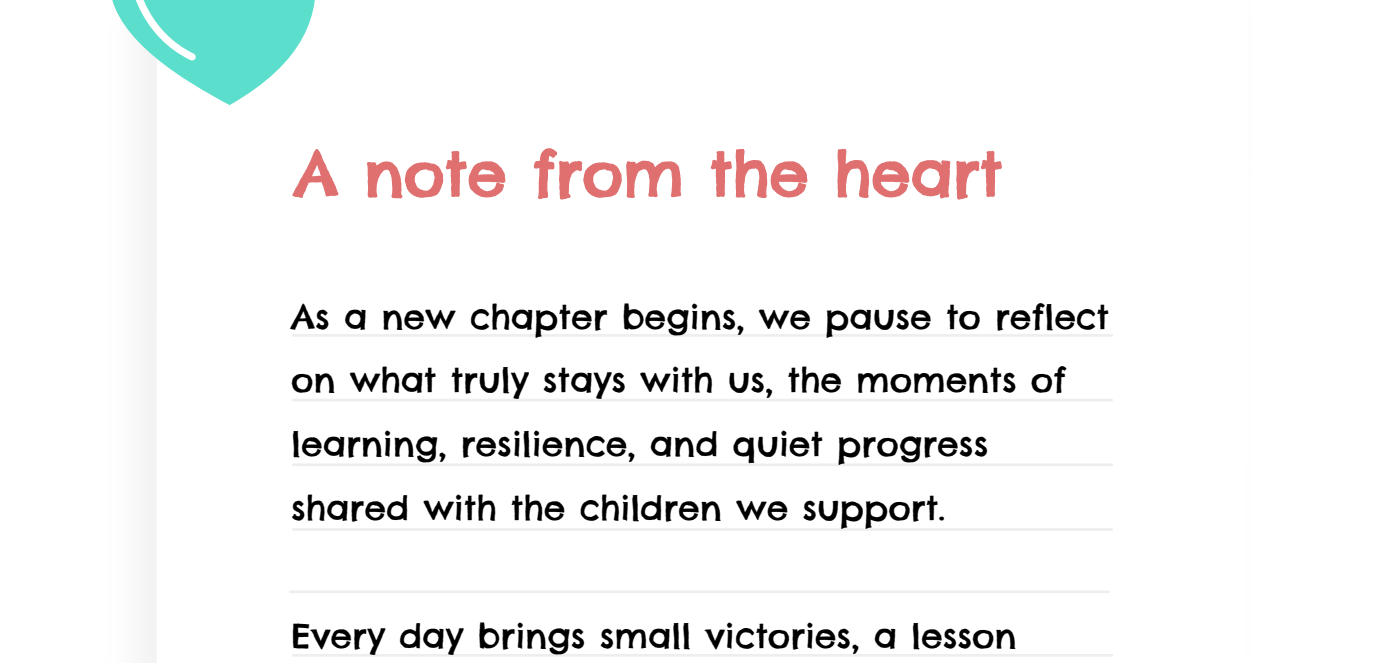

After earning a degree in Educational Sciences and teaching for 33 years at Collège Louise Wegmann, I gained extensive experience working with children, including those facing learning difficulties, supported by a multidisciplinary team.

When I was invited to teach at MySchoolPulse, I accepted immediately. Teaching in a hospital is different from a traditional classroom, yet the children remain the same, curious, motivated, and full of courage.

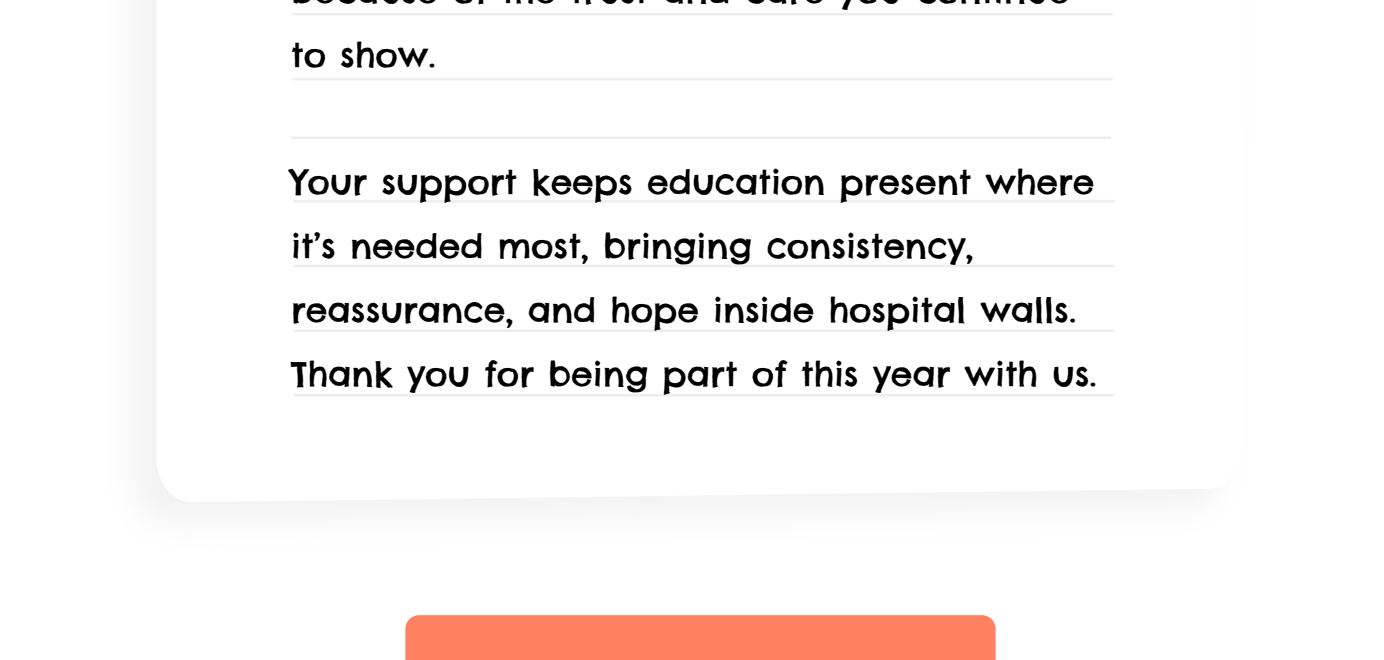

Each time I enter a hospital room, I am met not by sadness, but by a strong desire to learn and to keep dreaming. I am grateful to MySchoolPulse for allowing me to experience an environment where care, education, and humanity come together beyond all challenges.

A note from the heart

As a new chapter begins, we pause to reflect on what truly stays with us, the moments of learning, resilience, and quiet progress shared with the children we support.

Every day brings small victories, a lesson understood, curiosity sparked, a child staying connected to school while healing. These moments matter, and they are possible because of the trust and care you continue to show.

Your support keeps education present where it's needed most, bringing consistency, reassurance, and hope inside hospital walls. Thank you for being part of this year with us.
